Fourth race—selling, one mile—Lucy P.
Palmra's speech in the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday on the Burkeville consmection, and what was said by other members of that body on the same subject. These speeches recall to our mind the streamous and repeated efforts which we have made in times past to assist in effecting a close connection at that point at the trains of the Richmond and Dauville system and those of the Norfolk and Western. We had direct from the State Railroad Commissioner long, long ago, all that he has sever said in regard to the matter—that is, if we have seen reports of all that he has said to others. It pleases us to see so much present interest manifested in the subject.

There will soon be another railroad connecting Richmond with Farmville and the country tributary to that town. do away with the necessity for intimate connection at Burkeville between the two railroads first herein mentioned. This connection is demanded by the people of Southwestern Virginia and by those of Richmond. The business-interests here and there unite in making this demand. The failure to connect is such an outrage upon the whole travelling- and business-public as could not, we suppose, exist in any State in the Union except Virginia, whose people have so high a respect for the rights of railroad and all other companies that they seem to be ready at any time to admit that if any concessions are to be made these must be made by the public and not by the petted corporation.

We have never undertaken to apportion the responsibility for the outrage under consideration between the two delinquent companies. It would seem to be certain, however, that both are to be eensured. Colonel Palmer explained how the lesser wrong of not connecting at Burkeville and by this failure to connect causing each passenger to lose an hour's time grows into the greater outrage of landing passengers to lose an hour's time grows sengers at Petersburg. It often happens, no doubt, that passengers to stay all night in Petersburg. It often happens, no doubt, that passengers having only a dollar or two in their pockets, or perhaps no seeme to forganization of the Bourbon in the passengers having only a dollar or two in their pockets, or perhaps no seeme to forganization of the Bourbon is seemen to deceive themselves and others.

Doutnase's son why white men should overline the whites and negro paper published in Washington called the National Leader. The son no doubt speaks for the father. Since the election of Hamason the Leader has demanded the commingling of white and colored children in the public schools. Here is a specimen of its utterances:

"As long as the separate school system is adhered to, based upon color, prejudice will never die out, and will always work to the great its authernation." This provision was unconstitution, as was the civil-rights bill. Mr. Brakes to, be great its advantage of the colored and white entreened to, based upon color, prejudice will never die out, and will always work to the great its advantage of the colored citizen.
